DFCM Faculty Development Series

The Department of Family and Community Medicine (DFCM) presents a series of interactive discussions facilitated by John Frey, M.D., Emeritus Prof. University of Wisconsin, former Chair Department of Family Medicine University of Wisconsin. Faculty are invited to bring their experiences and perspectives to these interactive discussions to help support our work, success and decrease the stresses that can occur in the practice of medicine.

- The Lisboa Café
  October 18, 2017 6-8pm
  - The Residents’ Creative Writing Group at the University of Toronto meets at the Lisboa Café to share pieces they have written—which can range from vague, unstructured ruminations to poignant, deftly crafted narratives—with colleagues, who listen with sympathy and understanding.
  - Dr. Frey will facilitate a discussion of any writings or musings that the DFCM faculty would care to share as we work together to increase joy, meaning and satisfaction in our careers in academic medicine. If you have any writings, or if you are able to write about a topic of interest to you please bring to share your perspectives and experiences.

- How Does a Personal Physician Balance the Time and Effort Required to Develop Meaningful Relationships with Patients with His or Her Personal Life?
  February 21, 2018 6-8pm
  - Lessons from the Keystone 4 conference and the legacy of G. Gayle Stephens. The American Board of Family Medicine dedicated there Keystone 4 conference to the memory of Dr. Stephens, one of the founding pioneers of family medicine. Excerpts from this conference will be used to facilitate a discussion on balancing the provision of medical care and working as a faculty member with one’s personal life.
  - Please bring your personal reflections and questions to share.

- What Is the Role of the Personal Physician and Today’s Health Care Delivery System?
  July 18, 2018 6-8pm
  - Lessons from the Keystone 4 conference and the legacy of G. Gayle Stephens. The American Board of Family Medicine dedicated there Keystone 4 conference to the memory of Dr. Stephens, one of the founding pioneers of family medicine. Excerpts from this conference will be used to facilitate a discussion on the evolution of the role of the personal physician and with that current role looks like in the 21st Century.
  - Please bring your personal reflections and questions to share.

Sessions are held on Wednesday, evenings from 6 – 8pm at the Taj Mahal restaurant Albuquerque New Mexico. Participants are welcome to attend individual sessions or the entire series.

The cost of each event in the series is sponsored through a $50 tuition remission (may be adjusted based on the number of participants – more info to follow). Information regarding tuition remission benefits and a downloadable form are available at http://ce.unm.edu/registration/tuition-remission.html. Please register by completing the tuition remission form and returning it to Tina Hoff.

---